A MESSAGE FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT OF MT. PLEASANT TOWNSHIP SCHOOL DISTRICT

LLOYD F. RUMBAUGH
B. A., M. Ed., D. Ed.

The members of the Class of 1950 have built this annual around the thought that their high school days make up the best years of their lives. They have learned to live with one another as they participated in the regular class-room activities, published the school newspaper and the school annual, operated the candy booth, played in the band, sang in the glee club, presented class plays and school assemblies, took part in forensics and either played on or encouraged the different athletic teams. They have been loyal to their clubs, their teams, and their school. They have been active citizens in a school democracy. Seniors, as you leave what you have termed the best years of your lives, take with you your ideas of democracy in action, your lack of prejudice, your high ideals, your optimism, and your appreciation of the satisfaction to be gained from worthwhile accomplishments.

A MESSAGE FROM THE HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

WILLIAM D. MULLIN
B. S., M. S., M. Ed., D. Ed.

The best years of our lives are the present year, 1950, and the years to come. To quote Browning: "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be, the last of life for which the first was made." We live for the present and the present year should be the best with each succeeding year better than the previous one. Youth is the best time physically; middle age, intellectually; and old age, spiritually. No hard and fast rule can hold because people react differently to life. It is true that memories linger long after the actual living of the present has ended. As a challenge to you, Seniors, may each and every one live for something each day of every year. May each day be filled with living experiences with thoughts, words, and deeds. Thus character will be developed, personality will be enlarged, and the tuning of hearts and minds for the enrichment and the refinement of human understanding will be achieved. Then, human lives will grow and become great cathedrals of human understanding. We must look forward, upward, and onward, ever trusting and confident that the "Best is yet to be, the last of life for which the first was made."

Seated: Dr. Floyd F. Rumbaugh, Andrew Harvan, Herbert Smith. Standing: Dr. William D. Mullin, Clair Morgan, William Smitley, Stanley Glamp, George Baluh

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Each year the board of education faces the overwhelming task of serving, as best they know how, the people of the district. It is a known fact that it is impossible to please everyone, but these school directors have done their utmost in shouldering the educational responsibilities of the community.

Seldom have these capable men ever been commended for their endeavor to promote the welfare of our youth. The many activities shown in this book speak for themselves in showing what their plans and efforts have accomplished.

M E M B E R S O F

CATHERINE CAREY E., B. A., Seton Hill College, Carnegie Institute of Technology.

"Keep the books in order," is the request of our pleasant librarian, Mrs. Carey . . . is well liked by all students . . . always willing to lend a helping hand to others.

ELVY CHRISTNER B. S., University of Pittsburgh, California State Teachers' College.

"Clean up, boys, and put away your tools," is the by-line of our industrial arts teacher who ends a busy period . . . his well-trained boys should make good husbands.

ANDREW EVANCHO, B. S., M. Ed., St. Vincent College

"This is the day, boys!" is the command that whips the Hurricane into action . . . teaches science and algebra to freshmen boys and girls . . . an admirable person, liked by all.

JOSEPHINE FAUSOLD, B. S., University of Pittsburgh.

"Put first things first and keep them there." When this statement is made, students in biology and civics classes know that Miss Fausold is provoked . . . class reaction is instantaneous.

JANE FISHER, B. A., LITT. M., Pennsylvania College for Women, University of Pittsburgh.

"And why don't you know it?" is the question put forth by our P. O. D. teacher when students fail to answer . . . coaches the senior play and is our guidance counselor.

HELEN FOREJT, Hurst High School.

"Boy, you're going to get it," is the way Dr. Mullin's efficient secretary addresses class-cutters . . . however, she usually accompanies this statement with a smile . . . is every student's favorite.

JOHN E. FREED, B. S. IN BUS. Ed., Indiana State Teachers' College, M. in Bus. Ed., University of Pittsburgh.

"Ah-hmmm!" This is his punchline, but the commercial students claim it always proves effective when Mr. Freed wants silence . . . is a handsome man with a captivating smile . . . teaches commercial subjects.

THERESA GALONE, B. S. in Home Ec., Seton Hill College.

"Clear the halls," is the warning given by Miss Galone . . . she is sweet and tiny . . . always busy cooking a delicious dish . . . has a smile for everyone.

T H E F A C U L T Y

HELEN GREEN, B. A., in Art Education, Indiana State Teachers' College, Duke University and Penn State College.

"What do you mean you can't do it?" is the reply Mrs. Green gives to discouraged amateur artists . . . one day a week, she travels to Hurst from Latrobe to teach art.

DOROTHY HACKER, B. S. in Home Ec., Penn State College, Seton Hill College.

"Carefully follow the directions given on the pattern," is the plea of our sewing instructor, Miss Hacker . . . She has a pleasing personality and her remarks are usually accompanied by a sparkling smile.

EVA MARIE HYDE, Hurst High School.

"Take this letter and type up a report," are the words she utters to senior commercials . . . Miss Hyde, who can be found in the Norvelt Building, is Dr. Rumbaugh's secretary.

GENEVA JONES, B. S. IN C., Grove City College, Penn State College.

"You will have to make up that spelling test," is Mrs. Jones' threat to absentees . . . is a very soft spoken person who interests freshmen J. B. T. students in commercial work.

ARTHUR KROMER, B. S., M. ED., St. Vincent College, University of Pittsburgh.

"Be careful or you may get an extra button hole," warns our great experimenter, Mr. Kromer, when students are using acids . . . Chemistry lab is enjoyed by all students.

JOSEPH MYERS, B. S., M. Ed., University of Pittsburgh.

"All right, all right now! We are going to have English," are the words used to begin his English classes . . . Nouns, pronouns, or adverbs immediately follow this statement.

LETITIA MYERS, B. A., M. Ed., Juniata College, University of Pittsburgh.

"Don't all speak at once," is Miss Myers' warning to future journalists . . . possesses a pleasing smile and is well liked by all . . . will be remembered for her great work on our school paper.

THEODORE MYERS, B. A., Elon College.

"Blippo" is a word that cannot be found in the dictionary, but the students in Mr. Myers' English classes know what it means . . . They say it's quite expressive.

M E M B E R S O

JOHN NOCK, B. S., M. Ed., Waynesburg College, University of Pittsburgh.

"If a problem is impossible, it may take a little time; if it is difficult we can do it at once," explains our math teacher, Mr. Nock . . . coaches basketball and baseball.

BARBARA NOLAN, B. A., Seton Hill College.

"Who read the assignment?" is the question asked by Miss Nolan in history class . . . has a very fine sense of humor and is admired by everyone . . . is noted for her pretty brown hair.

ESTELLA K. SEALS, B. S. in School of Education, Slippery Rock Teachers College.

"Get in line," says our peppy gym teacher while the roll is called . . . that's just the beginning of what awaits the girls . . . sore limbs and an aching back. But oh! the results!

JOSEPH SENI, B. S., St. Vincent College.

"Let's get on the ball, students," are the famous words heard in Mr. Seni's history classes . . . then comes a brain teaser followed by quantities of work sheets to end all hilarity.

JOSEPH E. SILVIS, B. S., Duquesne University, M. Ed., University of Pittsburgh.

"What students?" says Mr. Silvis while reading an article in salesmanship . . . Mary Ellen, his daughter, is one of his favorite topics when he has an informal class discussion.

JOSEPH SIMON, B. S., Penn State College.

"That's Fine!" exclaims our good-natured agriculture teacher . . . his friendliness and helpfulness enables him to win the admiration of all students . . . he is responsible for many successful Harvest Balls.

HENRY SOMERS, B. M., B. S. M., Baldwin-Wallace College, Conservatory of Music, Berea, Ohio; Graduate Work, Ohio State University.

"What you say to your neighbors isn't worth the time." After this saying, the students in chorus know its time to get down to business . . . is also the capable director of the band.

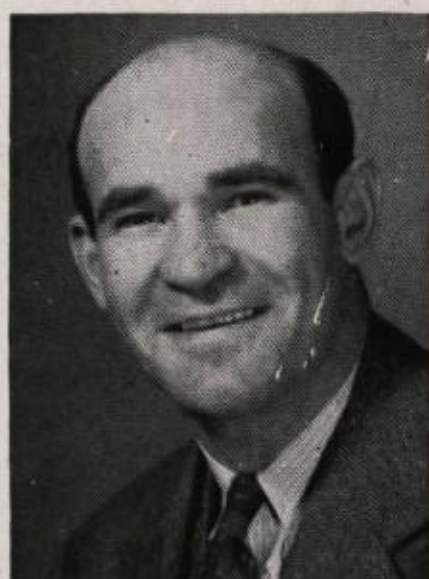

JANE STONER, B. S., Grove City College, Penn State College.

"Positively, absolutely," is the saying of our pretty commercial teacher . . . by her instructions, students learn to be efficient secretaries . . . has a very sparkling personality and a sweet smile.

T H E F A C U L T Y

FRANCES THOMPSON, B. A., University of Pittsburgh.
 "Come on, now, you know it," says pretty Senorita Thompson . . . is admired by her students in French and Spanish for her pleasant laughter and jokes . . . is a good sport.

STEPHEN TOMECHKO, B. S., Thiel College.
 "Five minutes or fifteen laps around the gym," are the words of our teacher who trains our peppy, gymnastic boys . . . is known by all to possess a pleasing smile.

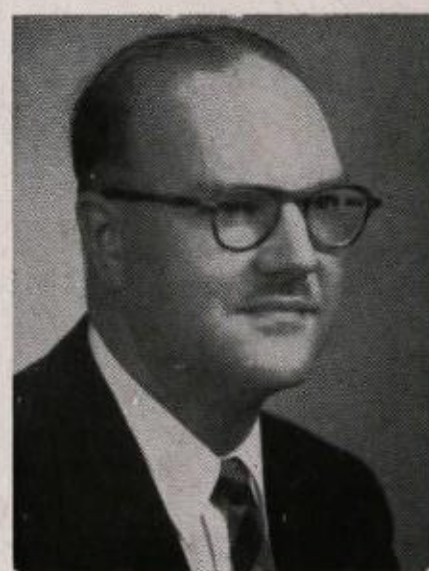

MARY H. WALKER, B. A., Seton Hill College.
 "Don't be afraid to give your own opinion," are Mrs. Walker's favorite words in English class . . . everyone likes this petite teacher with the pleasant smile . . . also teaches Latin.

M. M. BITNER, R. N., Graduate of Mt. Pleasant Hospital, P. G. Course at Elizabeth Steele Magee.
 "What's the matter?" asks our white-clad school nurse of students who frequently visit the medical room . . . She distributes pink pills and a bolstering smile to suffering individuals.

DR. S. S. DEVAUX, M. D., Otterbein College, A. B., Cincinnati Medical College.
 "If you aren't better, come back," says this capable doctor whenever students seek his treatment. He is always present at football games and renders his aid to the injured heroes.

DR. JOHN F. ERWIN, DDS, University of Pittsburgh.
 "Open wide," commands Hurst's skilled dentist . . . Every year he discovers many defective teeth by looking in the mouths of students . . . his pleasant personality makes the pain of dentistry seem trivial.

H U R S T H I G H B A N D

An organization that is really "fine" is the Hurst High Band of '49. At least one hundred boys and girls marched in the ranks and with their utmost ability performed at ten games. They presented a spectacular program for each designated game. Donned in scarlet and white uniforms and led by a vigilant drum major and prancing majorettes, they assured the spectators that they were behind the team.

Hurst was well represented in both the regional and state band conventions. Only the most capable were chosen to participate.

This spring, a concert was given in which the entire band demonstrated their technique. Later, a banquet was held at which time awards were presented to the senior girl and senior boy who contributed most to the development of a better organization during their four years in high school.

TOUCHDOWN SONG

Let's have a touchdown, hear them sing,
We want a touchdown, that's the thing,
Just let some great big bruiser, husky and tall,
Carry the ball and in no time at all, we'll have a touchdown
And when it's over let us hear you make some noise

..... V-I-C-T-O-R-Y
Let's have a touchdown boys!

BINGO!

Bingo, Bingo, Bingo, Bingo, Bingo,
What is the lingo
Hurst High is bound to win
There's to be a victory, so watch the team begin
Bingo, Bingo, the opposing team will not avail
Fight, Fight, Fight, with all your might
For Bingo, Bingo, is our Hurst.

BRIERCHECK, LEE

JUNIOR

No basketball player ever worked harder than Lee . . . What Lee lacked in natural grace he made up with sincere, earnest determination . . . Lee's persistent hustle had a decided influence on the fine spirited play of the team.

FORYS, JOE

SOPHOMORE

"Bobby" is our turn shot specialist . . . Without a doubt, he was the most conscientious player on the team . . . always worked to improve himself . . . should develop into an outstanding performer during the next two years.

HAROUSE, NICK

SENIOR

Although not a starter, Nick always gave a good account of himself when the call to action came his way . . . Nick was a willing worker, and played his best at all times.

KENNEDY, JOE

SENIOR

Co-captain . . . worth his weight in gold under the boards . . . His driving tactics and spirited play contributed greatly to the unexpected success of the scrappy Hurricane team . . . He leaves big shoes which may not be filled next year.

RIDDLE, HARRY

SENIOR

Co-captain . . . speedy little fellow who developed into a good ball handler . . . one of the better set-shot artists on the team . . . His brilliant play making will be greatly missed next season.

STOHL, CARL

SOPHOMORE

"Flick" was our problem child . . . He blew hot and cold . . . When he blew hot, there was no better player . . . He has tremendous possibilities, and should become a great star before he is graduated.

WITEK, WALTER

JUNIOR

Wally was our number one ball hawk . . . He played aggressive, heads-up basketball all the way . . . We expect him to become the hard-driving, inspirational force necessary to next year's team.

YURKOSKI, BILL

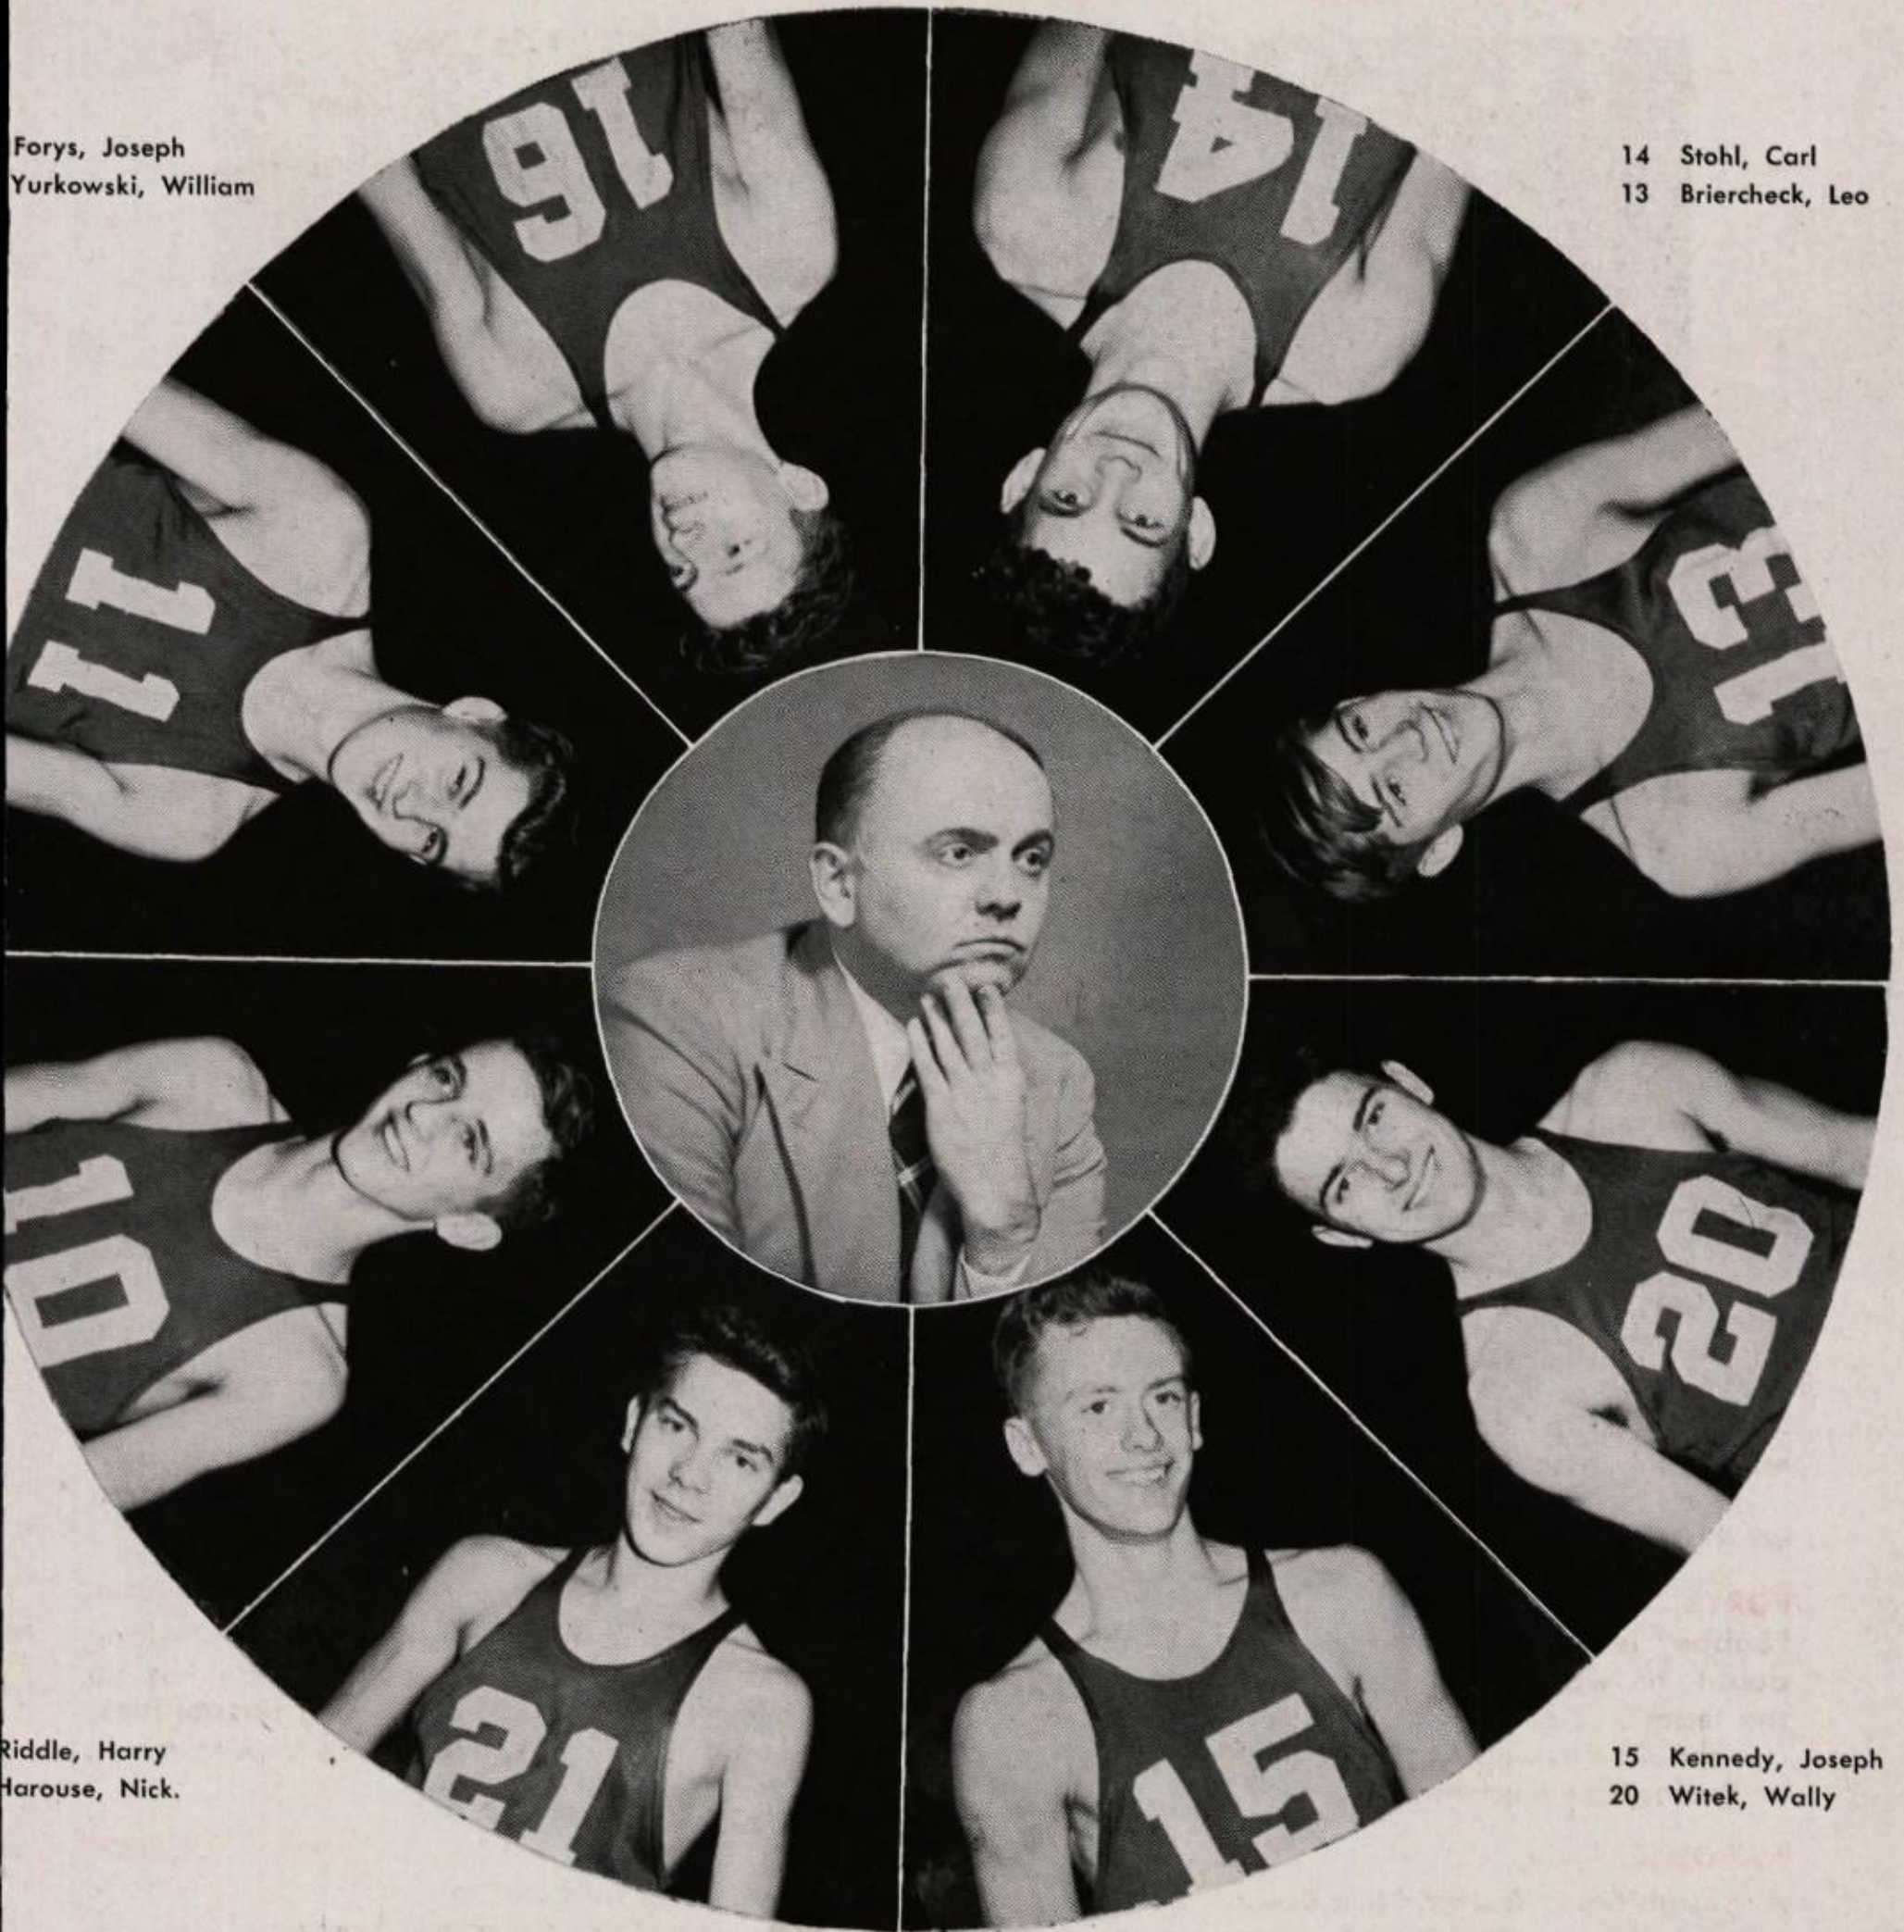

SOPHOMORE

We called Billy the "Old Reliable" . . . In many ways he was the steadiest boy on the team . . . His coolness under fire and smart ball handling came in mighty handy on several occasions . . . should be tops next season.
